Try for Health

222 South Peoria St.,
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 7, 1902.
Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Surgeon Dunsbar

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

Drying preparations simply developed by catarrh: they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

THE SMPE'S DRUMMING.

A Naturalist's Theory as to How the Sound Is Produced.

It is disputed whether the snipe's drumming—a curious noise, suggestive of a miniature thrashing machine—is made by the bird with its wings or by its tail or by both wings and tail. Some recent observations incline me strongly to believe that the tail plays, at any rate, the more important part. During the performance the bird flies at a great height round and round in a wide, sweeping circle. At intervals he makes a sudden and rapid descent, holding his wings partly flexed and his tail spread to its full extent. The outermost tail-feather on either side points outward at a greater angle than those adjoining it, so that when the bird is watched through a good field glass daylight shows between it and the next, and, if I am right in my view, the drumming sound is due to the rush of air against this isolated feather. The snipe's tail-feathers seem so puffy that it is at first difficult to believe that they can produce so great a result. But if an outer one be taken—it is slightly semicircular shaped, with the outer web much reduced—and swung rapidly through the air the drumming noise may be distinctly heard, though it seems but a very faint echo of the loud, throbbing hum that startles one when it suddenly descends from an ethereal height, and the small bird is desisted, hardly more than a speck to the naked eye, circling round in wild career and now and then swooping headlong downward and thrilling the air with his weird music.—London Nature.

THE LITERARY DETECTIVE.

His Hunt Is One That Adds Spice to His Reading.

There is a certain type of literary man who seems content to take little part in the struggle of letters beyond keeping an eye on his contemporaries and pouncing down on them every now and then to accuse them of having given a meaning to such and such a word which that word should not possess. It is strange that the number of these literary detectives is not larger, for there are few more fascinating occupations than this. It lends a spice to one's reading. The dulllest book becomes as readable as the most deftly written novel. Certain words have taken to themselves meanings in the course of time which they have no right to possess. "Phenomenon" is a very hardword offender. To use this word as meaning something "strange" instead of something "that appears and is visible" is to insure arrest at the hands of the detective. Lately the word "temper" has been exposed. Through long impunity it has come to imply bad temper, whereas, if it had its rights, it should mean just the reverse. We strongly advise every one who deems a never failing source of amusement to read the next novel he takes up with the eye of the detective. Starting with the earlier words, like "phenomenon," the reader may go on from strength to strength until before long nothing can escape him. The exercise, moreover, is not only a pleasure, but a duty.—London Globe.

Why Windmills Burned Down.

Of the production of fire by the friction of wood against wood windmills of the old construction gave on a large scale some disastrous examples. When the force of the wind increased the miller was obliged to bring each of the sails in succession to the ground in order to unclutter it, but when sudden squalls came on this was impracticable, and the mill in extreme cases ran away—that is, could not be stopped.

Everything was now done to increase the grip of the wooden brake round the great wheel on the driving shaft, and water was poured copiously over them, but in spite of all this flames would sometimes burst out from the intense friction and the mill would be probably burned down as the result. The beautiful machinery of the modern windmill, by which the miller controls the action of the sails from the interior of the building, has reduced this danger to a minimum.—Notes and Queries.

Memory.

There are 100 different varieties of memory, and perhaps we cannot altogether choose which we will possess, though every sort, when we have the germ of it, may be cultivated. To learn anything by heart the best plan is to read a sentence or paragraph, without a book, then read the next sentence and repeat the two, and so on. Repetition is of great importance, "line upon line." More is learned and remembered by reading through one book twice than by reading two books once. After a thing has been learned it must be recalled and gone over at intervals, or the impression will fade away.

Spats.

Where did spats come from? Highland soldiers wore them first. Because of the bravery of highlanders at Lucknow and elsewhere in India during the Indian mutiny the people of England looked about for some way to show their admiration. Scrutiny of the highland dress disclosed that spats were the most suitable for adoption, so they were adopted and have been commonly worn ever since.

Those Sweet Girls.

Drusilla—I did not see you at the Vanbrunt reception last night, dear Dorothy.—No.—I hoped to be able to go to the last moment, but was prevented. Drusilla (sweetly)—Yes; I know the invitations were limited.—St. Louis Republic.

We all spend too much time in complaining that we lack time to do things.—Atkinson Globe.

THE OSSETINIANS.

A Race of the Caucasus Mountains With a Georgian Dialect.

In the highest parts of the Caucasus mountains, around the Kaspian region, there is a tribe, very tall and handsome, which speaks its own peculiar dialect of the Georgian language and has its own peculiar customs, differing in many ways from those of the Tcherkesses, Armenians, Circassians and other tribes that dwell in the same country. It is the tribe of the Ossetinians.

Like the rest of the Caucasus tribes, they have recognized Russia's authority. But they adhere to the claim that they are not descended from Asiatic races, like the other tribes, but that their ancestors were German knights who had gone to the crusades and who, after the disastrous end of the last crusade, had been driven into the wild valleys of the Caucasus, whence it was impossible for them to win their way out and homeward owing to the vigilance of the Moslem foe. So at last they settled down and took wives among the Caucasus mountain women, who have always been noted for their beauty.

It is a strange fact that the Ossetinians understand the science of brewing malt liquors, and they are the only ones who drink beer, the other tribes preferring Asiatic liquors.

THE WORD LIVERY.

It Originally Meant Something Delivered or Freely Given.

Our word livery is derived, through the French, from the Latin liberare, to deliver. Hence a livery originally meant something delivered or freely given, and came to be applied to an allowance of food or clothes.

From Norman times an English nobleman allotted a fixed "livery" of bread, wine and candles to his servants for their private use. A remnant of this system still survives at Oxford and Cambridge, where the fellows of a college are entitled to a daily allowance of food called "commons." An allowance of provender for a horse was also called a livery, and a horse fed and groomed for its owner at a fixed charge was said to be "at livery."

In the middle ages "livery" was worn by any one who was in any sense in the service of another of superior rank or station. The trading companies of the city of London used to provide a special attire for their freemen, who became known as liverymen, a title which they still retain.

CIRCULATING LIBRARIES.

They Were Started by the Stationers of the Middle Ages.

The earliest form of circulating library was the lending out of books for hire by stationers of the middle ages, but this was of very limited extent. In the reign of Henry IV, Richard Bury, bishop of Durham, left his valuable library for the use of Oxford students. Two provisions are very practical, one being that no book was to go into circulation unless there was a duplicate; the other, that the borrower had to deposit security exceeding the value of the book.

Dunfermline, Scotland, established the first proper library of this description in 1711, Edinburgh following in 1725 with one founded by Allen Ramsay. The first public one in England was established in Salisbury by a clergyman, Faneourt, in 1740. This drew to itself the attention of the other London societies established circulating libraries in the eighteenth century, and in the nineteenth they became far more widely spread.—London Globe.

Old Maids.

The true "old maid," like the true poet, is born, not made, old maidishness being a question of innate character rather than of incidental condition. There are old maids of every state and age and sex, says Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler, creatures who revel in fuss, and batten upon detail, and abide in the narrowest of narrow paths. Do we not all know married women with large families who are, nevertheless, old maids to the backbone, just as we know adorable elderly spinsters who have the minds of girls and the hearts of mothers? And do we not also know numbers of the (so called) stronger sex whose absorption in trifles and avidity for gossip preclude them old maids of the purest water?

A Man to Dodge.

"Look at Baker, out on a day like this without an umbrella. Is he crazy?"

"I'm afraid he is. Let's hurry on. I don't want to meet him."

"Why not?"

"He may recognize this umbrella. It's his."

Among Them.

Clara—Do you know, Maud, Mr. Smithers paid me a great compliment last night?

"No. What did he say?"

"He said I was among the prettiest girls at the party."

"Yes, I noticed you were among them."

A Last Resort.

Little Boy—I want you to write me an excuse for being late to school yesterday. Jeweler Eh? You are not my son. Little Boy—No, but mamma says I had plenty of time to get to school, so I guess the clock you sold her doesn't go right.

A LUCKY SHOT.

Everying Moment in a Buffalo Hunt In South Africa.

A hunter in South Africa tells the following story of an adventure with a buffalo: "I was in the act of descending the bank when Prinsloo, a Dutch hunter, who was lower down the slope, saw the dark outline of the buffalo standing at bay behind the screen of reeds. Next instant, seeing it about to charge, he shouted, 'Daar kom hij!' ('There he comes!') and fired, rather at random, I am afraid. Then, rushing down the path by which he had advanced, he threw himself headlong into the reeds on the left. This all happened in a few moments, but I had sufficient time to raise my rifle to my shoulder and fire as the enraged bull rushed straight at me through the reeds, with nose thrown forward and horns back. As I fired I endeavored to jump aside to escape the charge, but my feet got entangled in the matted grass, and I fell on my back, luckily, however, retaining my hold on the stock of my rifle. My first shot seemed to check him for a moment, but the next he was rushing up the slope at me. I shall never forget the shape of his fierce eyes. It was but a moment's work to draw back the bolt of my Mauser and to close it again, thus pushing another cartridge into the breach. I had no time to raise the rifle to my shoulder. There was barely time, just before he was within striking distance, to pull the trigger, with the stock under my armpit, while I lay on my back on the top of the sloping ground. Without so much as a groan he fell in his tracks and rolled over into the muddy water two yards below with a great splash, shot through the brain."

CHEER UP.

There Are Millions of People Much Worse Off Than You Are.

Cheer up. The world is taking your photograph. Look pleasant. Of course you have your troubles, troubles you cannot tell the policeman. A whole lot of things bother you, of course. Business worries or domestic sorrows, it may be, or what not. You find life a rugged road whose stones hurt your feet. Nevertheless cheer up.

It may be your real disease is selfishness—ingrown selfishness. Your life is too self centered. You imagine your tribulations are worse than others bear. You feel sorry for yourself—the meanest sort of pity. It is a pathetic illusion. Rid yourself of that and cheer up.

What right have you to carry a picture of your weebone face and frowny ways about among your fellows who have troubles of their own? If you must whine or sulk or scowl, take a car and go to the woods or to the unfrequented lanes.

Cheer up. Your ills are largely imaginary. If you were really on the brink of bankruptcy, or if there were no thoroughfare through your sorrows, you would clear your brows, set your teeth and make the best of it.

Cheer up. You are making a hypothetical case out of your troubles and suffering from a self inflicted verdict. You are borrowing trouble and paying a high rate of interest.

Cheer up. Why, man alive, in a ten minute walk you may see a score of people worse off than you. And here you are digging your own grave and playing pallbearer into the bargain. Man alive, you must do your work. Smile, even though it be through your tears, which speedily dry. And cheer up.—Milwaukee Journal.

Just So.

"The poor fellow went blind and crazy at the same time."

"Ah, I see—out of sight, out of mind!"—Smart Set.

Thought works in silence; so does virtue. One might erect statues to silence.

—Carlyle.

To Make a Bride

Many a woman would make a beautiful bride but she is deterred from entering the married state because of ill-health.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

The proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"If women would study the laws of health and use a little more common sense there would not be such a large number to-day suffering with the ill peculiar to our sex," writes Mrs. Sallie Martin (President Mutual Social Science Club, of 80 South Halsted Street, Chicago, Ill.) "Then when medicine is needed if they would take the Favorite Prescription, they would have a chance to get well. I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription three years ago and it cured me of female weakness of several years' standing, so I know what I am talking about when I praise it and always know what the result will be where it is used."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

SONOMA INDEX-TRIBUNE.

Sonoma, Sonoma County, Cal., August 27, 1904.

H. H. GRANICE, Editor.

Plans for the Future

Contrary to reports that have been circulated, to the effect that we were to sell out and leave Sonoma, we beg to state that we have not any such intentions. The SONOMA INDEX-TRIBUNE is not for sale. It is more prosperous than ever, and our readers will shortly see several improvements that we contemplate making in it.

Celeste C. Granice, who has been on the staff of the San Francisco Bulletin, will take up her permanent residence here, and will associate herself with the present editor on this paper.

We have always aimed to make THE INDEX-TRIBUNE newsy, progressive, reliable and up-to-date; and we shall ever strive to keep up the high standard it has attained among the interior weeklies of the state.

The Test of Desirability

That Sonoma is improving is evident from the amount of building going on. However, it may not be as obvious as it is true, that the improvements being made here are due to the thrift and progressiveness of old residents of the valley, and not to new people and outside capital. That this is so goes to show that the investors have made money here, and that the Sonoma valley is not only a residence section, but is also capable of producing wealth.

The charms of this valley never fail to allure the new-comer; and its beauty wears well with the permanent resident, who is ever content to abide here, whether granted little of this world's goods, or blessed with much.

New life and new people are always a welcome addition to a community; but that the old residents remain, who have acquired the means to go whereever they wish, speaks well for Sonoma. It is not an unusual thing for people to travel all over the world, and at last settle here for the rest of their days, satisfied that, taking everything into consideration, there is no place like this for a home.

"THE Five Skeletons," a blackmailing society, has threatened a Chicago man with death if he does not come up with $10,000. If there's anything in a name, the Chicago man will have a bone or two to pick when he meets his enemies.

THE young woman who climbed Mount Hood with nothing but a cheese sandwich probably derived all the strength she needed from the sandwich, which, we understand, was Limburger.

THE rainstorm that swept over the World's Fair ruined some of the Parisian gowns on display. Watered silks and storm serges are now much in evidence there.

A PROMINENT physician's wife has sued for a divorce. From the complaint, no one can blame her for wanting to change doctors.

ALL the belles of Santa Cruz are to appear in the "Chimes of Normandy," to be produced shortly in that city.

THE Chinese who was smuggled over in the dry-goods box is in a box sure enough, for he will be deported.

WOMEN who sue for money to alleviate broken hearts should be dubbed "heart beats."

THE brick trust has been broken. Some "brick" did that, no doubt.

PORT ARTHUR is still "falling." Too bad it doesn't take a tumble!

IN MEMORIAM

They say you sleep,
Beloved mother:
But ah! I know
This sleep is but the flitting of a soul
To Paradise.

I cannot know or dare to tread
The sacred precincts
Where thou art;
But all my footsteps
Hence shall strive to be
After thine own,
That they at last may lead me
Unto thee.

If I go through this life as thou,
I need not fame or gold,
Nor yet an elegy
On stone or page.
Deeds alone must ever be the monument
Which shall endure
From age to age.

It Happens This Evening

The Convent entertainment to be given Saturday evening, August 27, in Union Hall, will be one of the best ever given in Sonoma. Some of San Francisco's best dramatic talent will present a laughable farce. There will be many other enjoyable numbers on the program, and refreshments will be served.

They're Eating Venison

Henry Weyl took his rifle and snatched up the valley Thursday. When he came home he brought with him one of the finest five-point bucks ever seen here. Several of Henry's friends will have venison for dinner today.

PERSONAL MENTION.

A Heart to Heart Talk

We sat at the table—the alderman, the doctor and I. The subject of dieting was brought up in conversation. "No man," said the alderman, "can tell me what I ought to eat without knowing my habits of life, my temperament and all—is that not so, doctor?" "Perfectly right," said he, "what suits your stomach may not fit mine, and yet nine men out of ten are presumptuous enough to tell you what you ought to eat." "Yes," said I, "they don't appreciate that there is just as great a difference between two men's stomachs as there is between their brains. Overwork some men's stomachs and they will easily respond to the task, just as some men's brains can take care of endless details, but the majority will break down with the overload." "Indigestion," said the doctor, "is not a disease but an admonition—it is the red light that signifies danger. It is the language of the stomach to prepare for serious trouble if allowed to persist. Bitters and alcoholic medicines are poor means for stimulating the stomach to perform a larger share of work than it ought. The effect on the stomach is like the spur to the weary horse—it weakens him and shortens his life. A rational treatment," continued the doctor, "is moderate eating of wholesome foods, and only those which the person likes. Occasionally, say once a week, a dinner pill should be taken which should be entirely of vegetable ingredients—like Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—that will not purge, but act gently on the liver, stomach and bowels. To my mind the main dependence for curing permanently the indigestion which has become chronic—the 'heart-burn,' the sour eructations, the worst cases of dyspepsia—is that alterative extract made from medicinal herbs that Doctor Pierce calls his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' for it contains no alcohol to over-stimulate the stomach, but it simply goes to work in the right way—correcting the liver, purifying the blood and assimilating the food so that the stomach takes up its labors with activity and refreshed powers. It fills the arteries with the pure, rich, red blood of health. It tears down, and carries off old, inert and half-dead tissues and replaces them by new. It builds firm, healthy flesh. It makes the muscles strong and elastic and steadies and tones the nerves. It cures debility and weakness of every description."

W. Walter McGloshen, of Reinbeck, Iowa, writes: "I took only four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets,' and these remedies did me a world of good. I am thankful for your kind advice and praise the medicines highly. Will recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to all my friends as the best medicines ever made for the troubles for which they are recommended. There is nothing equal to them for stomach troubles."

C. P. Spencer, of Plano, Okla., writes: "I can hardly express my thanks for the benefit I have received from taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' They worked like a charm in my case. Am in better health now than for some time, and will not fail to recommend your medicines to my suffering friends. I hope you will receive my thanks for the good your medicine has done me."

SURPRISE PARTY

Given a Popular Bachelor at Madrone Vineyards

Henry R. Dakin, the bachelor manager of Madrone Vineyards, entertained unexpected guests Tuesday evening.

A bus full of merry-makers left here at 9 o'clock, and by the light of our famous full moon drove up the valley to Madrone. Mr. Dakin was apparently a much-surprised man. Soon lanterns were gleaming through the trees in the garden, and a jolly party was in progress.

The wide verandas at Madrone are particularly adapted to entertaining. The rustic benches and hammocks, and many beautiful plants and hanging baskets, add much to the charm of the place. In front of the veranda a rustic fountain plays, and in the gleam of Tuesday's moon the scene was very beautiful.

The crowd sang, and Mr. Dakin, who is famed for his gift of the humorous, gave several dialect monologues. Later on, the tables were spread, and delicious refreshments partaken of. At midnight good-nights were said, and all voted Mr. Dakin a right good host.

The following were among those present: Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hotz, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Bates, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Green, Mrs. A. Pauli, Mrs. McFullen, Misses McDonnell, Julia Fuller, Edith Bethune, Bertha McGinsey, Doris Clewe, Ethel Hunter, Maude Green and Ella Green; and Messrs. Will Clewe, Ray Hunter, and Milton McGinsey.

Married in San Francisco

Edward Steiger, the well-known vineyardist and wine-maker of this valley, and Miss Ida Trautner of San Francisco, a lady well known and highly respected in Napa county and in the metropolis, were united in marriage on August 18. The wedding was at the Lick House in San Francisco, and the ceremony was performed by Reverend Father Dempsey.

Brick Company Appeals

The Sonoma Brick Company of Glen Ellen, against which E. Goethe secured a judgment for $200 balance due him for wood delivered the company, and for costs of suit, has appealed to the higher court. The case was tried by Justice Gibson, who, after having rendered judgment, gave permission to sell 12,000 bricks at $8 per thousand, the money to be turned over to Constable J. R. Allen until the final adjudication of the matter.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

Why is it that Ayer's Hair Vigor does so many remarkable things? Because it is a hair food. It feeds the hair, puts new life into it. The hair cannot keep from growing. And gradually all the dark, rich color of early life comes back to gray hair.

When I first used Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was about all gray. But now it is as rich black, and as thick as I could wish. Mrs. SUSAN KLOPFENSTEIN, Tusconia, Ariz.

Mr. Trowbridge has a pumpkin on his ranch that weighs 165 pounds. Now, you hayseeds, try to beat this city farmer, who has been here only a few months.

Mr. Rankin, agent of the California Northwestern Railway, has severed his connection with the company, and has moved with his family to the mountain ranch he purchased several months ago of Mr. Lettie.

Thomas Johnson is the busiest man in the valley nowadays, drying fruit. Large loads of prunes can be seen going through town every day to his ranch, where he has a large force of men busy preparing them for market.

Ben and William Behler and Leo Justi returned home last Saturday from their camping trip in Mendocino county. They report most excellent luck, having killed ten bucks, two bears and one skunk. All you who have not tasted jerky, just call upon any of these gentlemen, and he'll give you a treat.

Clarence Merlin Jones, who had charge of his uncle's ranch during that gentleman's absence, caused the arrest of two Italians for hunting on the ranch. They stood trial, and were found guilty by Judge Gibson. Well done, Clarence! I wish there were more such foremen on the ranches hereabout. It is time trespassers were taught to respect the laws and heed hunting notices.

Glen Ellen, August 26.

An El Verano Snipe Hunt

Leon Gali, a prominent merchant of San Francisco, who is well known in the French colony of the metropolis, was the victim of a practical joke, perpetrated on him by a number of his city friends last Sunday night on the banks of Sonoma creek.

Mr. Gali is a guest at El Verano Villa, as are also Dr. E. R. Berges, J. P. Fennell, M. D. Cahill, D. J. Ready and Henry Ingerson. These latter, in quest of a victim of the joke they had up their sleeves, commenced to plan a snipe hunt in a very mysterious manner, and purposely allowed Mr. Gali to overhear just sufficient of their plans to arouse his curiosity. He asked to be allowed to join the snipe-hunting party. To this his friends consented, provided he maintained the strictest secrecy. It was explained to him that snipe hunting at night, with a lantern and a sack, was illegal, and was likely to lead to serious consequences if the hunters were caught.

It was finally decided to select Sunday night for the grand hunt. Time, 10 o'clock. Place, a sequestered spot where the bullrushes grow, on the banks of Sonoma creek.

Having reached the rendezvous of the snipe hunters, Mr. Gali was given a big wool sack and a lighted lantern. After the sack had been arranged and the lantern placed in position, it was explained to him that his companions would go down the stream and beat the birds up; that the snipe would be attracted by the light of the lantern; and that he was to shoot them into the mouth of the sack.

It is said that Mr. Gali bit like a gadgdon at the bait, and faithfully stood guard over that sack for nearly an hour. Then it dawned upon him that he had gone a-fishing instead of snipe hunting, and that his companions had caught a sucker.

RAILWAY TUNNEL CAVED

Manager Frazier Hurt while Overseeing Repairs

The caving of Tunnel No. 2 on the California Northwestern Railway Monday afternoon caused traffic to be suspended on that road between San Rafael and Tiburon. Passengers bound for Sonoma and other points north were delayed several hours. The passengers who left San Francisco on the 5:10 P. M. boat had to be taken to Sausalito, from where they were transported to San Rafael by the North Shore electric system. From San Rafael they took the California Northwestern to their destinations.

The prompt action of the California Northwestern officials in transferring the traffic via the North Shore has been greatly appreciated by their patrons.

The tunnel that caused the trouble is the longest on the road. General Manager J. L. Frazier of the California Northwestern and the North Shore railroads, suffered a compound fracture of an ankle while superintending the repairs to the tunnel on Wednesday. He and Superintendent Zook were standing on the staging that had been put up for the occasion, when suddenly there was a crash from above, and both men jumped just in time to escape a deluge of debris. Frazier's ankle was broken by the jump, and he was taken to San Francisco for treatment.

"Uncle Pike," of this place, was noticed at the dance last Saturday night at El Verano Villa. "Uncle Pike" is a sport, and seemed to be a darling little boy among the summer fairies.

Blair Hart, the well-known and popular Supervisor, was in town one day last week. Mr. Hart is a candidate for re-election. He has made one of the best Supervisors this district has ever had.

The race horse train from Santa Rosa was delayed here Sunday morning on account of the record-breaker Princess being taken with a "car fit." In her paroxysms the animal was badly cut up and injured about the legs.

Great interest is being taken here in the coming championship fistic battle between Jeffries and Munroe. The former, as usual, is the favorite in the betting, but for all that "Happy Hooligan" picks Munroe to be the champion after to-morrow night's mill.

The summer girl is slowly drifting away and the country lad wears a gloomy look. His top buggy will shortly be put up for the winter and back to the field he goes, while the object of his adoration, who has departed hence, snickers and says: "Oh, how easy."

HAPPY HOOLIGAN.
El Verano, August 26, 1904.

For Supervisor

The political card of Blair Hart, Democratic nominee for Supervisor of the First district, appears in these columns. Mr. Hart as a man and a citizen needs no encomiums at our hands. He has been a farmer in Vallejo township for many years, and is probably one of the best-known men in southern Sonoma county.

For the past four years Mr. Hart has been Supervisor of the First district, comprising the townships of Sonoma, Glen Ellen and Vallejo, and as road building has nothing to do with politics, we must confess that Mr. Hart has made a mighty good Supervisor, even though he is a poor Republican. To be sure, there are some in the district who may dispute this fact, but for every such one there are ten taxpayers who will agree with this newspaper that Mr. Hart has made a faithful and economical public servant.

"Eat California Fruit"

The above is the title of a little booklet issued by the Southern Pacific Company, and is well worthy of perusal even by Californians. It contains 32 pages of interesting matter pertaining to home fruits, 20 pages of which are devoted to very useful recipes for the housewife and cooks in general. An edition of 100,000 copies has been printed, most of which will be distributed in St. Louis. California fruits have been given their greatest advertisements through the medium of this company, and this last little booklet is one of the best ever issued. It can be obtained free from the agents of the company or by sending direct to the main office. It would be a wise thing for Sonoma people who have friends contemplating a visit to California to procure a few copies of this booklet and send to them. There is no better way of advertising California than to send literature to friends explaining not only our climate but also our fruits.

Went to School with

Ella Wheeler Wilcox

J. B. Bacon, the well-known station agent at Schellville, went to school at one time with Ella Wheeler Wilcox, the popular and talented writer. Their school days were spent together near Madison, Wisconsin. Mr. Bacon recalls the time when he defended Miss Wilcox, then a slip of girl and unknown, from an attack of snowballs with which her playmates were deluging her.

Ella Wheeler's mother was a bright woman and a thinker, but the daughter in her girlhood showed no remarkable talents.

Years afterwards, Mr. Bacon was in his old home town, and he called upon his former schoolmate, by the time Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, the well-known author. He was cordially received, and speaks very highly of the personality of the gifted writer.

KANGAROO HUNTING.

A Dangerous Sport in Which Thick Breasted Plates are Worn.

Tiger skins, elephant tusks, antlers and a dozen other trophies decorated the smoking room of the hunters.

"You can't guess what this is," he said, and he took down from the wall a piece of curiously woven matting. It was about two feet square, green in color and five inches thick.

"This," he explained, "is the breast-plate that is worn in kangaroo hunting. Without it the kangaroo with a fore leg bow would smash in your chest as though it were a pasteboard box. This breastplate is a souvenir of an exciting kangaroo hunt in Australia."

"All big game enthusiasts are familiar with tiger shooting, elephant shooting, the chase of the grizzly, of the bear and of the hippo, but I know few men who have ever hunted kangaroos."

"Yet this is an exciting and dangerous sport. The kangaroo when he is brought to bay will fight. He jumps straight at you, like a great cat, and with his small fore legs he aims at your chest two tremendous blows—first the right and then the left—and these blows, with a speed and an accuracy that no prizefighter could equal, would kill you if they landed on an unprotected surface. So you wear, for a protection, this thick green guard, woven of native grasses by native women."

"You hunt the kangaroo in 'sets.' Eight hunters compose a set, and each set employs half a dozen native runners to stalk the kangaroo."

"The kangaroo, on being stalked, comes tearing over the plain straight at you. He travels with the speed of an express train, and he makes great bounding leaps. One minute he is crouched on the grass, the next he is ten feet up in the air, and all the while, remember, he is going forty miles an hour."

"Hence he is a mighty difficult object to shoot. If you fail to shoot him, and there is no tree handy, then you must put your trust in your matting breastplate. This breastplate of mine, you notice, has a dent in it."—New York Telegram.

PITH AND POINT.

Lots of worthy people are not popular. There's your case, for example.

Talk about a rut all you please, some men are never any good out of one.

The second time a man calls on a clever girl she tells him she knows his step.

Youth deals in fancy; age, in facts.

All false teeth are made to look too young.

Before saying that you think forty is old remember there may be some one present who is at least forty-one.

You are getting old when people begin to say that you have money hidden around somewhere. They never accuse the young of hiding money.

There is a saying "Get busy." It applies to idle, shiftless men. But there should also be a saying "Get lazy." It would apply with force to some men who work too much.—Attchison Globe.

A Legal Puzzle.

Curious comments by a judge, even in the presence of the prisoner, though extremely rare, are not unprecedented. Mr. Justice Maule once addressed a phenomenon of innocence in a smock frock in the following words: "Prisoner at the bar, your counsel thinks you innocent; the counsel for the prosecution thinks you innocent; I think you innocent. But a jury of your own countrymen, in the exercise of such common sense as they possess, which does not seem to be much, have found you guilty, and it remains that I shall pass upon you the sentence of the law. That sentence is that you be kept in imprisonment for one day, and as that day was yesterday you may now go about your business."

The unfortunate rustic, rather scared, went about his business, but thought law was an uncommonly puzzling business.—London Tit-Bits.

The Yankee as Europe Knows Him.

"I was greatly amused," said a merchant who has lately made a visit abroad, "to notice how the term Yankee widens in application as one gets farther away from the habitat of the real thing."

"I met a very intelligent hotel keeper at Berne, in Switzerland, and in the course of conversation he remarked that he had an extremely agreeable countryman of mine staying at his house the previous season."

"As you are both Yankees, you may by chance know him," he said.

"Where does he live?" I asked.

"In Buenos Ayres," replied the hotel keeper.—New York Press.

Willful, but Hampered.

Rich Cullen (who is making the record of the tenement districts)—Well, I must go now. Is there anything I can do for you, my good woman?

The Other (of the submerged)—No, thank you, men. Ye mustn't mind it, men, if I don't return the call, I haven't any time to go slummin' on me self.—Chicago Tribune.

Prompter.

Mrs. Prunes—When do you actors at the theater draw your pay?

Boarder—I am not an actor at the theater, madam. I'm prompter there.

Mrs. Prunes—Well, you'll have to be prompter here, too, or find another boarding house.—Kansas City Journal.

A Bangle.

Allice—Herbert says he is a self made man. Kitty—How he must suffer from remorse.—Harper's Bazar.

Always think before you speak. Before you write, think a long time.—Somerville Journal.

Queer Nest of the Tontobane.

The oldest of all birds' nests is the one built by the tontobane, a South African songster. It is built of cotton and always upon the tree producing the material. In constructing the dome the female works inside and the male outside, where he builds a small box for his own special use. He sits in the box and keeps watch or sings nearly all the time, and when danger comes in the form of a hawk or a snake he warns the family, but never enters the main nest.

Not Neglected.

"The art of letter writing is sadly neglected nowadays," said the man of literary taste.

"That remark," said his more practical friend, "shows that you haven't a son at college who is applying himself to showing you why his allowance ought to be increased."—Washington Star.

Nothing if Not Original.

Mrs. Smith—Have you named your twin girls, Lucy? Lucy—Yes, we've done name 'em "Flopsy" and "Jopsy." Powerful good names. Dave, my ol' man, he done got dem names outen de rivah colonym.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Jumping at a Conclusion.

Bragg—About a month ago I fell into a nice job as assistant manager, and the manager told me if I made good he'd raise my salary. Now—Is that so? What are you doing now?—Catholic Standard.

Wide Awake.

Passerby—I thought you were blind? Mendicant—Well, boss, times is so hard and competition is so great that even a blind man has to keep his eyes open nowadays if he wants to do any business at all.

A dog without a tail must feel as though he were in the deaf and dumb class.—Piano (Ill.) News.

Taken With Cramps.

Wm. Kirmse, a member of the bridge gang working near Littleport, was taken suddenly ill Thursday night with cramps and a kind of cholera. His case was so severe that he had to have the members of the crew wait upon him and Mr. Gifford was called and consulted. He told them he had a medicine in the form of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy that he thought would help him out and accordingly several doses were administered with the result that the fellow was able to be around next day. The incident speaks highly of Mr. Gifford's medicines.—Elkader, Iowa, Argus.

This remedy never fails; keep it in your home, it may save life.

STOP THAT COUGH!

When a cough, a tickling or an irritation in the throat makes you feel uncomfortable, take Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Don't wait until the disease has gone beyond control. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson of 354 West Fifth street, Salt Lake City, Utah, writes: "We think Ballard's Horehound Syrup the best medicine for coughs and colds. We have used it for several years; it always gives immediate relief, is very pleasant and gives perfect satisfaction. 25c, 50c, $1.00."

The One Who Wasn't Whipped.

It was in a large school, and one of the boys had committed some grave infraction of discipline. The teacher announced that he would thrash the whole class if some one did not tell him who had committed the offense. All were silent, and he began with the first boy and thrashed every one in the class until finally he reached the last one. Then he said, "Now, if you will tell me who did this I won't thrash you."

"All right, sir, I did it," was the reply.

Cholera Infantum.

This disease has lost its terrors since Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy came into general use. The uniform success which attends the use of this remedy in all cases of bowel complaints in children has made it a favorite wherever its value has become known.

Economy.
"Economy," said a Wyoming man, "is always admirable. A Cheyenne hunter, though, was disgusted the other day with the economical spirit of a visitor to his shop."

"This visitor, a tall man with gray hair, entered with a soft felt hat, wrapped in paper, in his hand."

"How much will it cost," he said, "to dye this hat gray, to match my hair?"

"About a dollar," the hunter answered.

"The tall man wrapped the hat up again."

"I won't pay it," he said. "I can get my hair dyed to match the hat for a quarter."

A Villain.

Lady of the House (to her friend)—What do you suppose has happened? At the last ball my Elsie made the acquaintance of a young man who was obviously interested. He was a good match, so I sent him frequent invitations to dinner, and as I knew he was a great gormand I employed the best cook that was to be had. Her friend—And your plan succeeded? Lady of the House—Well, not exactly. The villain found out and married my cook.

Explaining It.

"His great contention is that all men are born equal."

"But he seems to think he's better than most men."

"Well, he means all men are born equal, but some are equal to a hundred others."—Philadelphia Press.

Definition of Genius.

So far is genius from being "a transcendent capacity for taking trouble, first of all," as Carlyle has it, that it is rather the capacity for doing without trouble that which other people cannot do with any amount of trouble.—Pall Mall Gazette.

"Nine times out of ten," says a philosopher, "trouble is what we blame the world for when we did it all our selves."—Atlanta Constitution.

Poverty wants some things, but many, avarice all things.—Cowley.

HERBINE

Renders the bile more fluid and thus helps the blood to flow; it affords prompt relief from biliousness, indigestion, sick and nervous headaches and the over indulgence in food and drink. Herbine acts quickly, a dose after meals will bring the patient into a good condition in a few days.

G. L. Caldwell, Agt. M. K. & T. R. R., Checotah, Ind. Ter., writes April 18, 1903: "I was sick for over two years with enlargement of the liver and spleen. The doctors did me no good and I had given up all hope of being cured when my druggist advised me to use Herbine. It has made me sound and well." 50c a bottle.

Soft and Softer.

"How beautifully soft it is!" he murmured, laying his hand on her glorious white arm.

"How less beautiful, but, oh, so much softer!" she tenderly replied, laying her jeweled hand on the top of his venerable head.

Violent Attack of Diarrhoea Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and Perhaps a Life is Saved.

"A short time ago I was taken with a violent attack of diarrhoea and believe I would have died if I not gotten relief," says John J. Patton, a leading citizen of Patton, Ala. "A friend recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I bought a twenty five cent bottle and, after taking three doses of it was entirely cured. I consider it the best remedy in the world for bowel complaints."

It is the only remedy I have found that gives immediate relief." 25c, 50c, $1 bottle.
